Hello and welcome to Malmö

Malmö is the largest town in Skåne, the southernmost region of Sweden.

Malmös history as a city dates back to the 12th century. Like most cities,

Malmö has evolved (not unlike an evolving wilds) during its long history, starting off as a fishing village eventually transforming into an industrial center and then to what it is today: a modern multicultural city that prides itself as a budding university town and center of innovation with companies such as Massive Entertainment.

Things to do

Västra Hamnen is located by the ocean with the famous Turning Torso and some lesser, but still interesting feats of architecture. While mostly a summertime hot spot, it offers a great view of the Öresund strait and has several nice cafés and restaurants.

For those interested in history, we recommend going to Malmö Museer at Malmö Hus and/or Malmö tekniska. The castle Malmö Hus is one of the oldest preserved buildings in Malmö and houses Malmö Museer. Malmö Tekniska, located a couple of minutes walk from Malmö Hus and covered by the same ticket, holds amongst other things an old Submarine from the time when Malmö was a center of shipbuilding. You can enter the submarine, but mind your head; those things were not designed for comfort.

Malmö Live, located a couple of hundred meters from the central station, has a nice skybar and is well worth a visit.

For food and drinks, the bohemian and multi-cultural Möllevångstorget is a popular location. A true melting pot, Möllan has something for everyone.

For those looking for something a bit more posh, Lilla torg offers an active nightlife with lots of nice restaurants and clubs. Prices are a bit higher than Möllevångstorget but you do not get what you pay for.

It's become very popular amongst many judge to attend Escape rooms together. A great funny and awesome for team work. In Malmö we have Sherlocked.

The conference will take place at Spelens Hus, Nobelvägen 145a, situated close to Värnhem on the north side of Malmö. This is a house for different gaming associations. The idea is that one of the national gaming associations and the City of Malmö together run a house where people interested in different games can come to meet people and play games.

Magic-wise

FNM @ Playoteket give you the choice of either keep booster draft or standard play. Fee for the draft is 125 SEK and the standard is 50 SEK Both of these starts at 18:00 local time.

FNM @ Spelens Hus is beginners "make your own format" and costs 20 SEK

There might be a sunday tournament, keep yourselves updated on the forum for this.

Food

Vego = Vegogården is a place with vegan food that mimics a regular asian buffé.

Falafel = This is the thing you should try when you come to Malmö. We have a lot of places selling falafel and most of them make them fresh in the restaurant. It's a cheap meal and the falafel places can usually offer other kinds of fast food as well. Costs around 30 SEK

Asian buffe = a good way to eat a lot for the money.

There are a few nice places that serves all kinds of asian-style food, including sushi if you are lucky. Costs around 100 SEK

Swedish currency 1 Euro ≈ 10 SEK

Transportation in Malmö

Skånetrafiken, a company owned by landstinget (the regional government), operates all local buses and trains.

To buy a ticket you will either need a JoJo-Card (Like Yo yo waz up) or using Skånetrafikens own app.

A Jojo card can be purchased at Skånetrafiken's service centers or at Pressbyrån. Prices for bus and train rides within Malmö is 22 SEK and the ticket is valid for one hour within the city limits.

Taxi fares during weekends cost about 100 SEK
We recommend 040-232323 or 040-979797
For those using Über this company has just started establishing itself i Malmö.

You can also get around by bike. Renting one from a bike station is rather easy, you can check out their homepage here

Most of the time it's easiest getting around by walking, Malmö is a very compact and flat city with few hills so while in the central parts we recommend just taking a nice stroll. Most things of interest are situated within walking distance from each other (a 15-20min walk).
